For together under this roof, bearing in mind the night, or rather want of make up, it can only tunately, however, for those who have the honour many countries from which they hail and the is a subject for congratulation to find that of the some drill exercise would be beneficial for the tions that have been made in the report we have heard, that it may be possible before very long to

ladge; it does not consist merely of learning so many lessons in Latin or mathecation in our mother country so agreeable to the youths and which renders it so useful for the them in atter life. We have been reminded by the Acting Head Master that this colony has lately celebrated its Jubilee. That is quite true; it was but a few days ago that we were firing off our guns of joy and were hanging out our banners of rejoicing at the p osparity, the advancement, the progress that this colony has made during those fifty years that it has been a possession of our mother country. But, ladies andgentlemon, if there is one thing in regard to which we ought to be proud, if there is one thing which should give us more gratification than another, it is to feel how much has been done during those fifty years in the great cause of education We know that it is not contrary to the ideas of that great empire to which this island geographically belongs to impart knowledge, but there is a great difference, there is a great distinction between education as imported in the Western nations, between education as taught in our mother country, and that knowledge which is imparted in that empire of which I have made those seeds which we have endeavoured to plant in this colony during the last fifty years may to this little spot on which we stand, but whose benefits will reach far and wide over the vast country to which we have been told to-day many from this coll ge have wandered already and to which undoubtedly many more will continue to wander. will ask you, ladies and gentlemen, to congratulate those who have been spocessful in the examinations which have lately been held here; I will ask-you-to-join with-me in congratulating those who are about to receive prizes to-day, and to those who are not going to be so fortunate we will say "Persevere." In conclusion, I will ask one and all of the boys who are assembled here, to whatever nationality they may belong, to try to cherish a true affection for that institution in which they are now being trained; a respect for those superiors who are now over them and who tre now teaching them, and a love for those fellowstudents among whom they are now placed. When our sphool days are over and we have launched ourselves into the great ocean of life we may find many friends. As time rolls on, by some we are forgotten, while some we forget, and by some we may be disregarded; but there is one friend, if we know how to respect it properly, to which we can look during the whole course of our life and that is the college or school in which we were brought up and in which we were educated. We all know what a reverence an Englishman always feels for the institution in which he has received his education, and I would ask all those students who are assembled here to day to have the same feeling towards this college, so that when the time arrives for their studies to come to an end and for them to go away into the different spheres of life for which they may be bound, they may turn to these walls and exclaim with all truth-

Though time may pass, and years may fly, And every hope decay and die, Though every pleasing dream may set,
Yet thee and thine I'll ne'er forget.

THE SUNDAY LABOUR QUESTION. TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS," DEAR SIE. If once more I ask for the favour of space in your columns, I trust you will not consider me insatiable. The fact is that your esteemed correspondent, who calls himself "A instance of complaint re funday slavery, leaves on Sunday and runs off into a lot of sophistical have their week-day leave stopped or be paid for Sunday work on condition that their pay be stopped when on week-day leave. The answer to these wonderful problems is simply. " let the friend who propounded them in the depths of his immeasurable brain think them over before, not after dinner, and then stuff a copy of this letter into his well-seasoned pipe and amoke it." The insulting innuendees re bars, billiard rooms, and " other localities" cannot be properly answered with a pen. If the "sailors' friend" wants to know who ther there is a grievance or not he cannot I should say, do better than drop around and see Captain Auhton, the President of the Officers' Association, and in all simplicity and earnestness plead for "mehr light." He's sure to get it, even if the gallant skipper has to ram it down his throat with a capstan bar. In conclusion. I decline to continue arguments with this "friend." his allegations being too ridiculous to merit serious consideration. - Yours faithfully.

THE ANGLERS ELYSIUM. ____ A jaded business man who requires a change but cannot afford a long holiday could hardly do better than take a run over to Vancouver, especially if he be fond of angling. Professor Silvernail has recently described in American Angler (New York) the trout fishing he enjoyed on the Kootenay, Mr. Silvernai came through to the Paoifle two years ago and again in August last, representing the journal quoted, and then made a more extended trip through the province, which is a veritable paradise for anglers. This is Mr. Silvernail's happy description of a trip to Sprout's Landing .- That ride was one of the pleasantest episodes in my piscatorial life. The ecemery along the river was so beautiful that I frequently stopped my horse to admire the swift swirl of the waters as they came dashing over falls and eddies, about rocky points, foam spattered and majestic. The water of the river is by far the most beautiful I ever new. The volume, especially early in the seeson, is much greater than that of the famous burnt to death and some of the Insurance Com-Nepigon, which has so long been the great attraction to our Eastern anglers, while the falls are more numerous and grand. The refluent currents along the sides of the stream, caused by Colonial, $20,000; the Transatlantic, $20,000, and Nepigon, and the eddles and swirls beneath their clouds of spray, caused by the tumbling cataracts of the year the insurance losses would have been as they dash with deafening thunder over rocky ramparts and between craggy columns, bring to min! in many places the mad tumult below Virgin Fallant the head of the Nepigon, or the wrathful rush of waves which sing their eternal dirges at Cameron's or Hamilton's Pool." Prof. Silvernail went out to Ward's hotel, about 10 miles from Spratt's. "co impatient to wait until eventide, he sallied forth, rod in hand, and D. E. Brown's mammoth creel along over his shoulder. This is his description of that midday expedition :- "With a good sized red hackle and not swim and were afraid to take to the water, a stretcher and a smaller fly of darker pattern as a dropper, I seesyed the rapid in front of the house, and, somewhat to my surprise, my casting and we know of one merchant who asserts that Foochow was soon greeted by a rise from a silver beauty, he slone lost upwards of $2,000 in that way. of about a pound weight, which out up more didoes than any trout I hooked during the whole summer's fishing. He was safely creeled, and I pushed on towards the fall. A still stretch forming almost a bey at the bend of the river, intervened between the first successful cast and the quick water below the rapids at the fall, but when this was passed, having yielded a few small trout, and the deeper and swifter waters of the stream opposite the ledge of rocks was reached, I found

by a vigorous rush from some of the gamiest trout I ever caught. I hey were of the red barred silver variety, and averaged between one and two pounds. I soon filled the capacious preel, waters, so much resembling the speckled trout of

The article then recites the success of Mr. Thos. Dunu and Mr. James McDonald, of Vancouver. who visited those waters on a business trip in July taking their ruds with them. Standing in one place Mr. Dunn took ten trout, eight of which weighed 27 pounds. These were caught | above the Ward's on the opposite side of the river, between 3 and 6 o'clock in the of ernoon. The following day these gentlemen took lifteen trout from one pool, among the number, four doubles. The average weight of the 15 was Crossing the river one afternoon and after fishing_three-quarters of a mile downstream and back, their cutch weighed 82 pounds; filling a creek and two large strings. They stopped fishing about 7 o'clock in the evening. Prof. Silvernail, after a glowing description, Do. New Issue 231.17.6 $325, buyers Do. Fractl. BANGKOK, ...

A peculiar though not at all unprecedented ecordent happened to one of the Slam Plotilla Company's launches at the scene of the late fire at Sampeng. The awning of the boat, a solid wooden construction of thirty-siz feet in length, was lifted straight into the air to an altitude o about twenty feet and then dropped some yards away in the river. The agency was, of course, a whirlwind cansed by the conflicting currents of heated air from the vicinity of the flames. The new American Minister to the Court of Siam, Colonel'S. H. Boyd, accompanied by Mrs. Boyd and a lady companion, arrived here on the 12th January, via Hongkong, per steamer De-vaccongse. Colonel "Pony" Boyd, of Springfield, Mo., was one of the earliest Union men in Missouri to enlist in the war for the Union, and served under General Fremont and afterwards under General Jessup. He has lately been ougaged in railway building and banking, and is said to be an old and intimate triend of Secretary Blaine. We wish the Colonel a hearty welcome and hope he may prove as popular a man in this country as his immediate predecessor. Colonel Jake Child, whose departure from Siam is universally regretted. We hear that Government is now seriously thinking of establishing the long talked of National Bank of Slam. With the present rapid development of this country a Royal Bank is imperatively necessary, especially as a large number of people deem the present banking facilities inadequate to the demands of the growing trade of Siam. This of course is a matter of opinion only; but an opinion held nevertheless by a certain proportion of the residents. We trust that when Government has defluitely settled the matter it will be careful to secure the services of a manager thoroughly competent and reliable, and one who will be able to place the bank from its very beginning on a sure working foundation. The loss and damage caused by the destructive fire of January 9th is more serious than we at first supposed. Later investigation puts the total loss in goods and house property at two bales pierced coceons, 70 bales waste silk, 75 million ticals, or $1,200,000. Nino persons were cases sturmissed, 4 bales hair, 177 rolls matting, panies have suffered heavily. We hear that the Singapore Insurance Company is interested to the extent of some $30,000; the Batavia and a few other companies to some $30,000, more or less. Had the fire occurred before the end much heavier; as it was, many of the policies which expired on 31st December had not been renewed, as the Chinese merchants were Thermon. 4 P.M ... awaiting the advent of the Chinese New Year. The less of life is regrettable, but not surprising when we consider the labyrinth of narrow lanes and pathways surrounding the doomed neighbourhood.
